Trip to Europe by a Richmond Man-[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

IRELAND. It was about 5 o'clock one pleasant July morning when word was passed from cabin to cabin of the good steamer Utopia that land was sighted, and we were off the northern coast of Ireland. We were all glad, of course, to see the green hills of old Erin rise upon our right from the wine-colored deep, and the captain had promised it the night before, saying as the sun went down that it would rise for us in the morning on a part of Europe; but in the midst of this general joy we imagine there were a few who were very sorry to have their dream-voyage broken in upon, for our eleven-days-and-a-half voyage had been indeed a dream. The ocean had been to us a gentle mother, and we had been literally "rocked in the cradle of the deep," without even a single storm. The forty cabin passengers of a week ago seemed now like one family. Friendships had been formed which years of business or formal

> A WARNING TO HOUSEKEEPERS .- [From the Berlin Gazette.]-The following story is but too well calculated to alarm careful housewives who have left home for the summer holidays. She had not been away many days when he received a teleto fetch some articles of clothing which had 59 degrees. been left behind. Forty-eight hours after this dispatch the maid arrived, and the landlord immediately handed her the keys, of which she made no little use. Having collected her mistress's best dresses, linen, and plate into a bundle, she sent for a droschky, shut up the apartments, handed the keys to the landlord, and drove off to the railway station. Presently the lady returned home, and was much surprised at being received with a po-The whole plot then came to light; the maid servant had been dismissed for insubordination very shortly after her departure with her mistress from Berlin, and had sent a forged telegram to the landlord in order to obtain possession of the property of her employer, and escape with her booty to Ameri-

RUNAWAY Accident .- Late Wednesday evening Mr. W. A. Walker's horse, which was hitched to his buggy, ran away with Mr. Walker and a friend from near the corner of Seventeenth and Main streets, and both gentlemen narrowly escaped being injured. As they were about to drive into Seventeenth street from Main they made a short turn in order to avoid a coal cart. In doing so Mr Walker and his friend were thrown out, and the borse taking fright ran away. Turning the corner of Seventeenth into Dock street the horse continued his run as far as the corper of Twenty-first and Dock streets, where he dashed headlong into the dock. Several sailors, seeing that the horse-which by the way is represented as being a very fine acquaintance could not have ripened. We one-would probably be drowned, as it had counted the days together, talked over would be next to impossible for him to our plans with each other, and ceased for the swim while in harness and hitched to the buggy, got into a boat, seized the bridle, and held the horse's head up until the harness could be cut off and the animal rescued. Neither Mr. Walker nor his friend were seriously hurt, and the buggy was only > slightly damaged. NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING .- Nigh pefore last Mr. Peter Shields, who is one of he employed at the Government Granite Works below the city, narrowly escaped being drowned. He started to come across the river in the ferry boat near Rocketts, and as ne was about to step into the boat it suddenly eft the bank and he was plunged into the water. Mr. Shields weighs about two hun dred and fifty pounds, and it was with no little difficulty that several of his willing friends succeeded in getting him out of the water.

THE LECTURE LAST NIGHT .- If we may udge from the size of the audience at Association Hall last night there are not more than fifty or sixty persons in Richmond who take much interest in the subject of " Eating as a Science." But Professor Du Heaume who lectured upon that subject, certainly afforded those who were there an hour of real entertainment and amusement. No doubt some who heard him differed mate rially from some of the views which the Professor expressed; but after all he was unquestionably right in many assertions. Much of his lecture was intended to prove a great measure incapacitated for such a posi well, despite their disappointment, causing rican Methodists, and expect it, lose sight of mentally, physically, and in every other way, science, the negro ought not to be a cook. Then the speaker amused his audience in no small degree by enumerating the many peculiarities of our people in the manner in which they prepare their food.

He said that nitrates are the muscle-producing properties of food; carbonates produce the heat and fat; and phosphates, the brain vitality. He then gave the muscle heat, fat, and brain-producing powers of corn, oats, rye, wheat, barley, beans, eggs, rice, and butter-the latter having a fat-producing power of seventy-eight per cent., but no brain vitality or muscle-producing power. We may say, in conclusion of this hastily written notice, that Professor Du Heaume abored under many disadvantages last night but that his lecture was quite interesting, and if repeated will no doubt attract a large audience.
